Not illustrated. 1818 Excerpt: .The season of spring, which protrudes the leaves of trees, or the autumn which causes their decay, is most favourable for a whole day s exercise. But in winter, the middle of the day should be chosen; and in summer the dawn of morning, when husbandmen yoke the plough, or the evening, when shepherds pen their flocks. The arms and apparatus of the chace, nets, poles, spears, and a variety of instruments for which we have no corresponding terms in English are here enumerated. Horses are preferable to mares, -because they are stronger, and less prone, in the season of love, to disturb the game by neighing. The races of horses are as va-ried as those of men. The one which is superior to all others is distinguished by the loftiness of his head bending down from an arched neck; by the breadth of the space...
