(1) Debit Cash and Credit Mr. Smith with the amount actually received. (2) Mr. Smith is Credited with the Cash; therefore Mr. Smith must be credited with the Discount. (3) Cash account is Debited; therefore Discount account must be debited. DISCOUNT, FIVE PER CENT. EXAMPLE II. INTEREST. If you borrow 100 from H. East you will probably have to pay him 5 a year Interest. When you borrow the money you credit East and debit Cash Account. At the end of the first year or whenever the Interest falls due, as you have already credited East with the Cash borrowed, you now credit him with the Interest, and you debit Interest Account. You see from the above that Interest follows the same rule as Discount. When you pay the Interest, debit East and credit Cash; (but remember that East must be first credited with the Interest...
